Turin, May 19. N. S. The Duke de la Feuillade having appointed Montanaro for the Rendezvous of all his Troops which were quartered in the Monterrat, Mantua, and neighbouring Country, about 40 Battalions and 12 Regiments of Horse and Dragoons arrived the 8th Instant near that Place, where they encamped till the 10th. Upon Intelligence of the Enemy's Motions his Royal Highness sent General Daun to Asti, to order all the Germans and other Troops in Garison there to march to Turin, leaving only a Lieutenant-Colonel with 200 Men in the Castle, and two Battalions of Militia, with about 30 Hussars, to guard the Outworks of the Town. At the same time his Royal Highness ordered the German Horse to encamp at St. Michel, and his own Horse at Alpignian: Directions were also sent to several other small Garisons to come to Turin. The 10th and 11th the Enemy marched from Montanaro, passing the Rivers Orco and Malone, to Cirie, on the Banks of the Stura, where they made a Bridge; and the next Day passed that River, and encamped at Druint. The Troops which were on their March from Asti received Orders to stop at Quieri; but the Train of Artillery came streight hither. Five Piedmontese Battalions of this Garison were ordered to take Post in the new Redoubts on the Mountain of Turin, to prevent any Surprise, and at the same time Orders were given to provide these Works with Cannon. The 13th the Enemy marched from Druint, and came within sight of our Walls: They encamped on the same Ground as the last Year, their Army extending it self from Lucinto to the Lodge of the Old Park near the Po. His Royal Highness got on Horseback, and visited the several Posts about this Place, and ordered several Houses on this side of the Doire within Cannon-shot of the Citadel to be pulled down. He gave Directions for posting several Guards, for placing the Cannon upon the Ramparts, and for the Troops which were at Quieri to come hither. In short, he forgot nothing which might contribute to our Defence. The 14th his Royal Highness was on Horseback by 5 of the Clock in the Morning, to view the Enemy's Camp, and observe their Situation, as well as the Works which they were making. He had not been long abroad before he perceived a strong Detachment of Horse and Foot in Motion, and that they directed their March along the Doire towards Pianez. His Royal Highness left an Adjutant to observe their March, and continued to view their Camp, and to visit several Posts along the Doire. About Noon the Adjutant brought word, That the Detachment had joined 15 Battalions which came from Suze, under the Command of Monsieur Givodan, between Alpignian and Pianez, and that the whole was encamped between Pianez and Lucento; That they had posted a strong Guard, with some Cannon, at the Castle of Pianez; and that they had begun to work on a Redoubt to cover their Workmen, who were ordered to make a Bridge over the Doire in that Place. Our Parties which were on the other side of the River disturbed the Enemy's Pioneers very much. Both sides fired upon each other all day, but at such Distance that it did little Execution. The Enemy worked very hard on their Line and Redoubts, which are the very same and in the same Places as they were last Year, from the Po to the Doire. Our German Infantry arrived from Quieri this Day, and was posted in the Redoubts on the other side of the Po, and the German Horse marched from St. Michel near to Quieri. His Royal Highness ordered the Guard of Horse posted at a Place called the Balon to be doubled, and a Detachment of 500 Horse to encamp at Vanquille, which is a large Plain under the Cannon of our Walls between the Po and the Doire. A Party of our Hussars being on the other side of the Doire, one of them advanced to a Guard of the Enemy, promising his Officer to behead the first Man he met: He was as good as his Word; the Person who had the Misfortune to fall in his way was the Lieutenant-Colonel of the Regiment des Vaisseaux: Our Hussar also killed a Lieutenant who endeavoured to relieve his superior Officer: The Battalion thereupon made a general Discharge upon the Hussar, who being wounded, fell from his Horse, and was taken Prisoner. The 15th his Royal Highness sent out several small Parties along the Doire and the Po, to discover what the Enemy were doing, and they brought word, That their Line was very much advanced; That they had traced a large Redoubt on the side of the Po; that they were building Ovens at Lucinto; and that they had not yet finished their Bridge over the Doire at Pianez. His Royal Highness perceiving, that it would be easy to disturb the Enemy in their Works, ordered 4 Field Pieces to be placed on the other side of the Po for that purpose. Our German Cavalry came to Montcalier this Day, a Regiment of Foot also arrived there from the Vallies of Lucerne; and a Bridge was ordered to be made there over the Po. His Royal Highness sent Orders to Pignerol, and to the Parishes on that side of the Country, to supply this Town with a certain Quantity of Provisions. The 16th the Baron de Regall, General of Battalia, having got the Field Pieces ready on the other side of the Po, began to fire upon the Enemy by break of Day, which he continued near an Hour, with such good Success, that he obliged them to decamp, and, as we are told, killed about 50 Officers or Soldiers, and wounded several more. This was so unexpected, that it put the Enemy into great Confusion. His Royal Highness was on Horseback by break of Day: He went to Colin, to see if it were possible to hinder the Enemy's passing the Doire; but finding it too hazardous to dispute the Passage, he sent Orders to the Imperialists who were encamped at Montcalier to march to Colin, where they arrived this Evening, and to keep in those Parts as long as is possible, as well to destroy the Forage, as to get what we can into Turin before the Enemy are in a Condition to oblige them to retire. The Enemy having finished their Bridge over the Doire at Pianez, a small Body of their Granadiers passed the River, and began to intrench themselves on this side. The Deserters which came hither this Day told us, that the firing of our Cannon in the Morning, and the March of our German Horse, had so allarmed the Enemy, that they stood to their Arms all Day, and we perceived a Disorder in their Camp. A Party of our Hussars has taken a Cornet Priſoner, with two or three Troopers, and about 30 Horſes, from an advanced Guard of the Enemy. His Royal Highneſs received two Couriers this Evening from Savonne and Oneglia, with Letters from good Hands, which aſſure us, That the Siege of Barcelona is raiſed, and that the Count de Toulouſe returned to Toulon the 12th Inſtant in great Diſorder, having been obliged to leave his Cannon, ſeveral Officers, Bombardiers and Sailors, aſhore. Theſe Letters add, That above 2000 Men were drowned by the Precipitation with which the Enemy re-embarked; and that the Duke of Anjou was preparing to make his Retreat. This Succeſs we hope will oblige the Enemy to take new Meaſures, and abandon their Deſign upon his Place. This Morning by break of Day we fired upon the Enemy's Camp near Lucinto, and obliged a great Body of Horſe which was encamped there to retire with great Precipitation. Some Deſerters which came hither this Morning from Suze confirm the News of the Count de Toulouſe's Retreat.

Venice, May 28. An Expreſs arrived here this Day from Barcelona, which left that Place the 20th Inſtant, and brings the happy News of its being relieved, and of the ſhameful Retreat of the French from thence both by Sea and Land, leaving behind them all their Artillery, except 12 Field Pieces, their Proviſions, Ammunition, and other Warlike Stores, and even their Sick and Wounded. When the Expreſs came away their Army was within two Leagues of Girona, directing their March towards Perpignan, conſiſting at moſt of 8500 Foot and 2500 Horſe, and purſued by the Conde de Cifuentes, at the head of a Body of Miquelets and other Troops, which were continually skirmiſhing with their Rear and Flank, and had already taken 3 of their Field Pieces, and killed many of their Men.

Vienna, June 2. The 30th paſt we received by a Courier from Genoa the happy News of the raiſing the Siege of Barcelona, which was confirmed by the Baron de Keller, ſent hither Expreſs by the King of Spain. The Baron d'Oulfein arrived at the ſame time from Brabant, being diſpatched by the Duke of Marlborough, with Advice of his Grace's Glorious Victory at Rammelies. Theſe great Succeſſes have filled the Imperial Court, and in general all the People here, with an inexpreſſible Joy; and we hope will greatly contribute to the forwarding of the Negociations for appeaſing the Troubles in Hungary.

Francfort, June 9. The Troops of Heſſe, to the Number of 10000 Men, are encamped between this Place and Mentz, but will ſoon join the Imperial Army commanded by Prince Lewis near Ettlingen, which we hope will then be able to repaſs the Rhine, and act offenſively againſt the Enemy, who have lately detached 8000 Men to the Netherlands, and, as we hear, are ſhortly to ſend a further Reinforcement thither. The Garriſon of Landau has lately been reinforced, and Parties from thence frequently make Excurſions with very good Succeſs.

Paris, June 11. The Detachment of 20 Men out of each Troop of Mouſquetaires, and a like Number out of the Gens d'Armes and Light Horſe that were left here, as uſual to guard the King's Perſon, is ordered to be in a readineſs to march for Flanders. A Draught is made out of the French Carabiniers in Germany to ſupply the Places of the Life Guard that were killed or taken in our late Defeat at Rammelies; and thoſe Carabiniers are to be compleated by Draughts out of the reſt of the Horſe of our Army on the Rhine. By this means the King hopes to reſtore the Troops of his Houſhold which ſuffered ſo much in that Action; but no Expedients are yet found to recruit the reſt of his Army. The Siege of Turin ſeems to be uncertain, eſpecially if the Reſolution continues of ſending Detachments from the Duke de la Feuillades Army before that Place towards Spain. Our laſt Letters from Italy ſay, the Duke of Savoy's Foot was for the moſt part got into Turin, and that his Horſe was encamped at Montcalier, not far from thence, on the other ſide of the Po. The Duke of Anjou arrived at Pamplona the 2d Inſtant, from whence it is ſaid he will proceed to Madrid; but it is much doubted whether he will attempt it till he has received freſh Reinforcements, the Diſpoſition of the Spaniards towards him being ſuch, that it is thought his Perſon cannot be ſafe without a ſtrong Army of French to defend him. We have an Account from Spain, That the Portugueſe had taken Ciudad-Rodrigo, the Garriſon of which Place had obliged themſelves not to bear Arms againſt the Allies for Twelve Months.

Damme, June 5. Major-General Roſs was detached from the Army the 31ſt Inſtant, N. S. with 1000 Horſe and Dragoons to ſummon Bruges; which Place ſurrendred to him the 2d in the Evening. He put a Guard of Dragoons into the Town, and encamped with the reſt at the Gates; the French Battalion that was in the Place retired upon his Approach. Some Hours after the Enemy abandoned Fort Bavier, ſeated between Bruges and this Place, where they had a Battalion of Walloons, and left in it 18 Pieces of Cannon, and good Store of Ammunition and Proviſions. The ſame Evening they abandoned this Town, where they had a French, and Walloon, Battalion: They left here 18 Pieces of Cannon, of which 12 belonged to the French, 90000 lb. Weight of Powder, and a great quantity of other Ammunition and Proviſions. Major-General Roſs put a Lieutenant with 30 Men into Fort Bavier, and Lodged 100 Dragoons at Damme, the Battalions that were to be ſent by the Sieur Fagel from Sluce not coming till the 4th in the Evening, when ſtronger Garriſons were put into theſe ſeveral Places.

From the Duke of Marlborough's Camp at Arſeele, June 14. N. S. On Friday the 11th Inſtant my Lord Duke of Marlborough ſet out from the Hague, in order to return to the Army, and lay that Night at Woerden-Dyke. The next Day, as his Grace was proceeding on his Journey, he was met at Merxem, two Leagues from Antwerp, by the Biſhop of that City, attended by all the Clergy, both Secular and Regular, who aſſured his Grace of their inviolable Loyalty and Affection to King Charles the Third, and to the Houſe of Auſtria; acknowledging at the ſame time his Grace to have been the Glorious Inſtrument of their happy Deliverance from the Tyranny of France, under which they had laboured ever ſince the Death of King Charles the Second. The Margrave of Antwerp, with the Burgomaſters, and the reſt of the Magiſtrates, attended his Grace ſome diſtance from the City, where the Firſt Penſioner, in the Name of the reſt, made a Speech to the ſame purpoſe as the Clergy had done before, and preſented his Grace the Keys of the Town, telling him, They had never been delivered up to any Perſon ſince the Great Duke of Parma, and that after a Siege of Twelve Months. His Grace at his Entry into the Town was received with all the Honours and Ceremonies uſually paid to their Sovereign Princes, 150 of the Principal Citizens going in Proceſſion before the Coach his Grace was in with lighted Flambeaux to the Biſhop's Palace, where he was ſplendidly entertained, and lodg'd that Night. The Marquis de Terazena, Grandee of Spain, and Governor of the Citadel, who has declared for King Charles the Third, waited on his Grace during the whole Solemnity; and the Streets were crowded with infinite Numbers of People, continually repeating, with the greateſt Marks of Joy and Satisfaction imaginable, Long live King Charles the Third. His Grace left Antwerp yeſterday early in the Morning, and arrived the ſame Evening at the Camp.

When the Garriſon was to march out according to the Capitulation, one Spaniſh and one Walloon Regiment ſtay'd behind entire; and of the other Regiments of thoſe Countries, there were ſcarce 150 left when they paſſed by Bruſſels, moſt of the Officers and Soldiers entring into the Service of the Catholick King; as likewiſe the Marquis de Winterfeld, Lieutenant-General, and Governor of Lier, who commanded the Garriſon in the City of Antwerp; and the Baron de Vrangle, a Major General, being Men of the firſt Quality, and of great Credit among the Troops.

The Troops are ſo diſpoſed, that Oſtend and Newport will be both inveſted at the ſame time: Monſieur d'Auverquerque, who is to have the Direction of thoſe two Sieges, is to march towards Oſtend to morrow with a ſtrong Detachment of Foot, and 30 Squadrons.

The Marquis de Terazena is to advance with ſome Troops towards Dendermonde, the Inhabitants of which Place ſeem diſpoſed to follow the Example of their Countrymen, in declaring for their lawful Sovereign.

The Troops of Pruſſia are come to the Maeſe, where thoſe of Hanover are expected in two or three Days. My Lord Duke has given Orders for theſe Troops to advance towards Bruſſels.

Hague, June 15. N. S. A Detachment from our Army has taken Poſt at Plaſendale, which will facilitate the Sieges of Oſtend and Newport. The King of Pruſſia is expected from Berlin at Cleves the 23d Inſtant; and his Majeſty intends to come from thence hither. There are Letters from Germany which ſay, the Marſhal de Villars was to ſend a Detachment towards the Netherlands, which will ſo weaken his Army, that it will be impoſſible for him to make any further Attempt on that ſide.

The Addreſs from the Borough of Abingdon, mentioned in the laſt Gazette, was preſented to Her Majeſty by Grey Neville Eſq; introduced by the Rt. Hon. the Lord Chamberlain.

Notice is hereby given, That a General Court of The Governors of the Bounty of Queen ANNE, for the Augmentation of the Maintenance of the Poor Clergy, will be held on Wedneſday the 26th Inſtant, at 10 of the Clock in the Forenoon, at the New Buildings adjoining to the Banqueting-Houſe in Whitehall.

By the Receiver-General for Prizes.

THE Neat Proceed of the Cargo of the Prize Ship La Seine, taken by Her Majeſty's Ships Faulkland, Fowey and Dreadnought, (the Rainbow Privateer in Company) being now adjuſted; Notice is hereby given, That the Officers and Companies of the aforeſaid Ships will (on Monday the 17th Inſtant) be paid their juſt Proportions of the ſaid Prize, according to the Directions in Her Majeſty's moſt Gracious Declaration for the Encouragement of Her Ships of War, &c.
